

Andrew Finds a Bank

By Andy

Andrew was walking one day, and he saw an old school with cobwebs on it. It looked like a old mansion that was run down. Andrew went into it. It was very dusty. Andrew found a basement that was very creepy and cold. Walking into the basement, he found a door to a dirt path in a tunnel under ground. Andrew walked slowly through it. It was very dark in the tunnel. At the end of the tunnel, there was a light. Andrew was scared, but he kept going.

There was a ladder at the end. Andrew climbed up the ladder and through a manhole. It was a room surrounded by brick. There was lots and lots of money in it. It was a vault!!!!!!!!!!

Andrew said, "Yikes! If I'm caught in here, I am in big trouble!"

Andrew ducked back into the hole! He thought I better tell the police!

Running to the police station as fast as he could go, Andrew spotted a officer. Explaining to the policeman, he told him his story. The officer told Andrew there had been robberies at that bank. Andrew showed the policeman where the tunnel was.

The officer exclaimed, "Yep. This is the bank all right. Thanks for finding this Andrew."

Just then a man poked his head out the hole and shrieked, "Oh no!"

He then went back in the hole and ran as fast as he could.

The police man screamed, “Stop him!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!”

A person from the bank walked into the vault and asked, “What's happening here?”

The officer answered, “The robber was just here!”

The lady shouted, “no!!!”

She grabbed Andrew and the police man and tied them up. She jumped down into the hole and ran as fast as the other one.

She yelled, “wait up honey!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!”

Just then another lady walked in and asked, “what happened?”

The officer answered, “no time to tell you right now. Just untie us!”

Then the police man grabbed his radio and radioed to the police station and reported, “I need back up!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!”

Seconds later, another police man received the news and saw the robbers.

He grabbed them and yelled, “Got you!”

Next, the officer took them into the custody.

Andrew did not get a reward, but he did find out who they were. It was the bank owner and his wife. They were stealing the money and buying fancy vehicles and were almost to leave the country. The police recovered all the merchandise, and ended their life of crime. All was well. The End!