

My Funny Brother

By Katelyn

A funny story about my brother William. My brother went flying the other day. It was so funny because he thought he could fly. It was a sunny day when he climbed up the tree. He had his home made wing glued to his left hand. On his right hand there was nothing. Out of the blue he jumped out of the tree and fell on his belly. He got hurt. It knocked the wind out of him. He laid on the ground for a while. Then my mom came running over to William. She picked him up and brought him into the house. She put him on the couch and gave him a remedy. Next she put lights on him and it took a while for him to get up from the couch. William was so hilarious, he said “next time I will try flying with two wings, one on each hand. Maybe then I will be able to fly.”My brother is so funny.
