

The Cereal Situation

By DiMico

Early one sunny morning, my little triplet brothers and I sat down for breakfast, and a funny thing happened. As soon as Oli finished his cereal, and was excused, he did something hilarious! He was going to the sink when he tripped over Henry, the dog. His face fell straight into the bowl; luckily, he didn't get hurt (neither did the dog)! When he came up, he was covered from head to toe with milk. My brother Oli really likes a lot of milk, so his fall made a big splash, and you better believe me, we are still laughing about it today. That was one of the funniest moments of my life.
