The Spooky, Haunted, Moaning School

By Jack

Over the weekend, I was locked inside my school building.

On Friday, I went to school to see my teacher about getting a new math book. First, I opened the door to my school. I went into my school and then went to my classroom, but the door was locked. My teacher wasn't there either.

I went to the exit door to open it, but it didn't budge. Suddenly the floor dropped out. I fell and landed on my back.

"Oucchhhhhhhh!!!"

My back hurt and then the lights started blinking and then they went out.

Then I heard it, moaning! Wwhhoooooooooooo!!!!!!!

"Whooo!-help-helppp!!!" I yelled!!! I saw green, glowing eyes staring at me.

I said, helppppp!!!

Next, the floor dropped out again. I was floating for 1 second and then I was falling a hundred stories down through the earth. Then I hit a trampoline and bounced up one story and down one story. I came to a stop on the trampoline.

I was in complete darkness. Seeing a light, I went toward it. Finally, I realized it was a door not a light. I opened it. I was in a school, a Chinese school.

I was in China. I went to a phone. I pressed 0 on the phone. On the phone, the operator came on.

I said, "What!!!"

The operator spoke Chinese. I hung up. Then I said, "I want my teacher!"

"Stupid day," I mumbled.
